Course Description
This course is designed for anyone who will work in an organization—you! Many believe that management is an art that comes to someone (or doesn’t come) naturally. Our general theme is that management is a skill that you can develop with practice that is informed by research findings. A typical class session surveys a different topic in management, with emphasis on both theory and practice (some topics are big enough to require two sessions). Practice emphasizes immediate applicability, while theory allows you to generalize to new conditions.

Course Objectives
After completing this course, you should be able to:

- Explain the functions of management
- Describe the pros and cons of various organizational designs
- Define organizational culture and describe its effects
- Delineate various approaches to motivating employees
- Grasp the operational and strategic functions of human resource management
- Explain how teams and groups should be designed and supported
- Contrast different organizational control systems
- Describe the impact of technology and total quality management on operations
- Compare different leadership styles
- Describe the pros and cons of various organizational decision making processes

Grading

Participation. Come to class prepared to take part and you will learn much more than you otherwise would. Quality of participation is more important than quantity, so please try to keep your “ideas per minute” ratio up. You’re always welcome to ask me how you’re doing on this dimension, and I will award you a subjective feedback score on your participation at three different points in the term. I will score you at each point on a scale of $\checkmark$, $\checkmark$, or $\checkmark+$, which I will then use to score your participation for the course overall. You can see these scores on our course’s webpage in ICON.

Thought papers. At four different points in the semester, I will have you submit a 3-4 page thought paper on the topics that we have been discussing during the current segment of the course. You are free to range pretty freely within those topics. What I want to see is that you are processing those topics and thinking about how you might apply them in your management career. Regurgitations of the readings will not be sufficient and will receive a poor score. Also, I do not expect that you should discuss all of the topics that we have been discussing in that segment of the course; you should focus in on 1-2 ideas and do them in some depth. I will be happy to consult with you about your ideas ahead of time, and on some rare occasions at my invitation you may have a chance to rewrite the papers. This will be primarily when I feel that you did not understand the topic sufficiently.

Exams. There will be two exams during the semester: one midterm exam and a final exam. Each exam will be closed book and closed note and will consist of short essay questions and/or a short case to read and write up during the exam period. The final exam will be a comprehensive exam drawing from all of the material covered throughout the duration of the course and will be given during the finals period.

Each item’s contribution to your course grade is given in percentage terms below:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Item</th>
<th>Percentage</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Class participation</td>
<td>10%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thought papers</td>
<td>40%</td>

<td>Midterm exam</td>
<td>20%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Final exam</td>
<td>30%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total</td>
<td>100%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

If a student misses an exam for any reason he or she may be allowed to make up the exam if the circumstances conform to those outlined by University of Iowa policy.

I will base your final course grades on the following scale:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Percentage</th>

That code can be found at http://tippie.uiowa.edu/honorcode.cfm and includes cheating, plagiarism, unauthorized collaboration, obtaining an unfair advantage, forgery, facilitating academic dishonesty, and misrepresentation. Be sure you are familiar with this code. Students who exhibit academic dishonesty will receive a zero (0) for the assignment or examination involved and may receive an "F" for the class. All incidents of cheating will be reported to the CIMBA staff, as well as to the Senior Associate Dean of the Tippie College of Business. The decision of the professor may be appealed to a Judicial Board. The Honor Code for the Tippie College of Business will determine the appropriate appeal process.

Accommodating Students with Disabilities/Academic Accommodations
A student seeking academic accommodations such as a modification of seating, testing, timing, etc. should first register with Student Disability Services, then contact Shannon Lizakowski (shannon-lizakowski@uiowa.edu) in the CIMBA Office to make further arrangements. See http://sds.student-life.uiowa.edu for more information.

All members of the UI community have a responsibility to uphold this mission and to contribute to a safe environment that enhances learning. Incidents of sexual harassment should be reported immediately. If you feel that you are being or have been harassed or you are not sure what constitutes sexual harassment, we encourage you to visit the University website, www.sexualharassment.uiowa.edu/index.php, and to seek assistance from the CIMBA Director, Brandelle Unkrich, at 319-335-1041 or brandelle-unkrich@uiowa.edu.
